

An Analysis of College Choice among Admitted Students Who Did Not Enroll at Evergreen Fall 2005

The names of students who were admitted for Fall 2005 at The Evergreen State College but who did not enroll in Fall 2005 at Evergreen (N=1,492), were submitted to the National Student Clearinghouse in order to obtain enrollment records at participating institutions. The purpose of this research was to find out where students enrolled instead of coming to Evergreen.

The National Student Clearinghouse is a nonprofit organization that provides enrollment records through its StudentTracker service. Approximately 91% of educational institutions nationwide participate in the National Student Clearinghouse.

National Student Clearinghouse searches have been performed in prior years. This year, the data appears to be even more reliable and informative, because the search was performed at the end of spring quarter instead of late fall quarter. This means that enrollment records were obtained for students who registered in winter or spring quarters at other institutions instead of just fall enrollment records. Multiple records meant additional data cleaning, but information about student paths through multiple institutions and where students ended up at the end of the year is accessible through this search, when in the past this data was not available.

The complete database with student names and institutions where they transferred may be useful for recruitment purposes, because prospective students who may be more likely to come to Evergreen in the future (e.g. those who chose to enroll at 2-year institutions instead of Evergreen) could be identified and targeted through mailings or other contacts.

There were 360 students who were not found by the National Student Clearinghouse or for whom records were blocked by either the student or the institution. This report summarizes the response data for the 1,132 students for whom information was received at a detailed level.

Enrollment records are not available for some institutions in Washington. The table below shows institutions of 1,000 or more students who do not report enrollment information to the National Student Clearinghouse. There may be additional institutions that are smaller than 1,000 students in size that also do not participate in the National Student Clearinghouse.

Washington Institutions (of 1,000+ Students) Not Included in the National Student Clearinghouse Records

Institution Name	Enrollment Size
City University	5,849
The Art Institute of Seattle	2,527
Northwest University	1,120

The table on the next page provides a summary of the composition of the population of prospective students who were admitted to Evergreen but did not enroll fall quarter (admit/no enroll population).

Admit/No Enroll Population Summary

Student Residency and Admit Type	N	Percent of Admit/Not Enroll
Nonresident First-time, First-years	617	41%
Resident First-time, First-years	368	25%
Resident Transfer Students	234	16%

SEATTLE CENTRAL COMMUNITY COLLEGE	10	1%
TACOMA COMMUNITY COLLEGE	10	1%
WARREN WILSON COLLEGE	10	1%
Total students found among 21 institutions listed above	524	48%

Enrollment in the 21 institutions listed above account for 48% of the admit/no enroll population who had enrollment records through the National Student Clearinghouse search.

The detailed analysis below breaks out results for first-time, first year and transfer students by residency. The detailed analysis does not include students with disputed residency or Returning Greeners who brought no new transfer credits.

Records for international students were analyzed separately. Enrollment records were found for three of the 10 international students. These three students went to Western Washington University, University of the Redlands, and University of Washington. In addition to these 10 international students, there was another international student who was a Returning Greener with no transfer credits. This student enrolled at Evergreen winter quarter.

Nonresident First-time, First-years (N=617)

There were 477 prospective Nonresident First-time, First-years (77%) for whom records were found in the National Student Clearinghouse data.² Some students enrolled in more than one institution during the course of AY 05-06; however, summary tables below show the first institution that they attended.
