The average satisfaction rating for each academic area was calculated and the results are presented in the next chart. Environmental Studies concentration alumni were most satisfied with their growth in learning independently, working cooperatively in a group, and understanding the interaction of society and environment. This group was least satisfied with their growth in readiness for further education and readiness for career. Average satisfaction ratings for all other areas of learning growth were above the "somewhat satisfied" midpoint of the scale for this subset of alumni

Note: Satisfaction was rated on a five-point scale where 1=not at all satisfied, 2=little satisfaction, 3= somewhat satisfied, 4=mostly satisfied, and 5=very satisfied.

Work-related skills and abilities

Alumni rated their skill levels in a series of work-related activities. Then the alumni who rated their skill levels also rated how well the education they received at Evergreen prepared them in each area. The following table provides the frequencies of the alumni responses about their work-related skills. The most common rating category for each work-related skill is presented in bold print for emphasis.

		Your level of skill					Preparation from your Evergreen education
